

AHGW Licensing Instructions

Guide to registering Arc Hydro
Groundwater

Applies to AHGW versions 3.5 and newer. Please contact Aquaveo for assistance with older versions.

Thank you for purchasing AHGW!

Your license code identifies a purchased license and is used to register and enable AHGW. The license code is a 7-digit alpha-numeric value which may contain a single seat or multiple seats, depending on the number of licenses purchased.

There are two license types: Flex license and Local license. A Flex license code begins with the letter "F" while Local license codes begin with the letter "L."

A Flex license is a license to AHGW that can be accessed or shared over a local network. This type of license can also be moved by checking-in and checking-out the license to other locations.

A Local license enables AHGW on a single computer and cannot be moved to another computer.
